Happy New Year

Happy New Year

Happy New Year

Well here we are at the beginning of another new year, so now is the time to decide what the new year is going to hold for us, what promises and resolutions are we going to make (or maybe break!) during 1998? But what dose the coming of a new year hold for the band? Here's what your favourite bass player Graeme Clark has to say on the prospect of entering the new year:-

1998 - The new year always brings a new start, one year older and are you really one year wiser? I don't know....

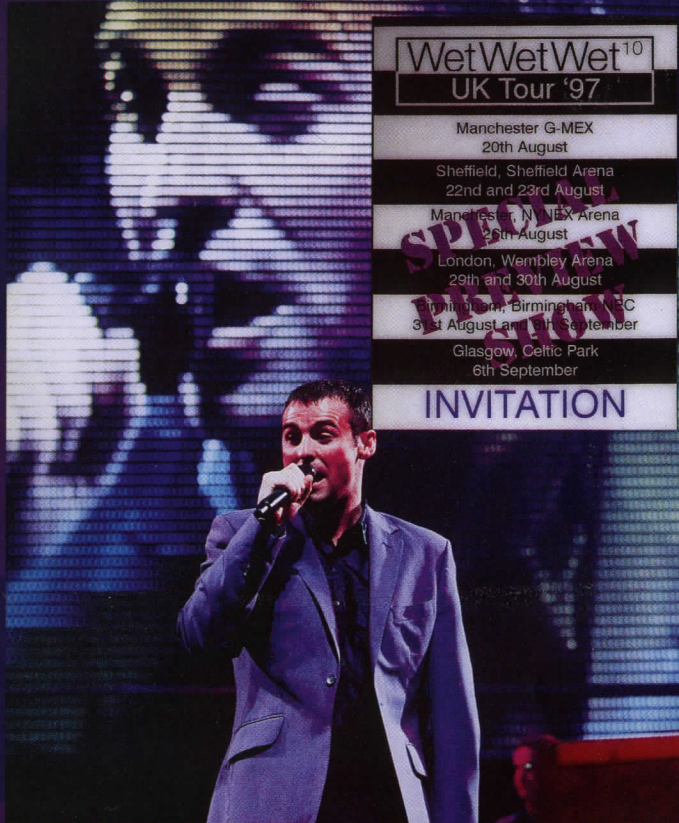

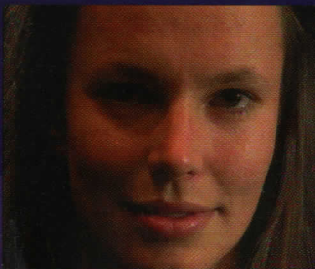

To me the new year means new hope & new horizons - new album, new singles, new videos, new promotions, new TV shows, etc. etc. etc.; all of these are in store for us.

Last year was good; two tours, an album, a movie, a new government and also a song writing sojourn in deepest Devon. Everything was great.

Now the challenge is to do it all again, but better - that's me - the eternal optimist! I'm a dreamer, I'll never deny that. One dream I'll never forget is that of a 15 year old boy who dreamed of having a band and maybe, just maybe, persuading someone to make a twelve inch piece of vinyl that he could claim to be part of, and maybe, just maybe, have a song in the Top 10. What a dream.... And that's what we're doing this year starting all again with another album which will hopefully be released in 1999 (my god, did I say that !!!) So keep dreaming,

Love,
Graeme

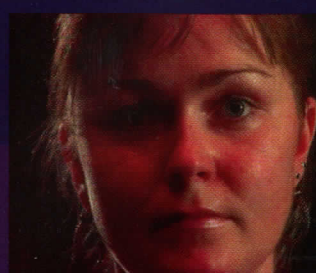

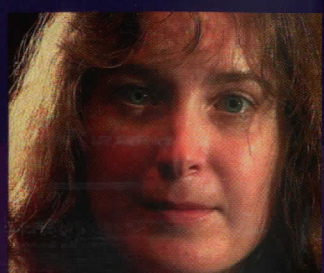

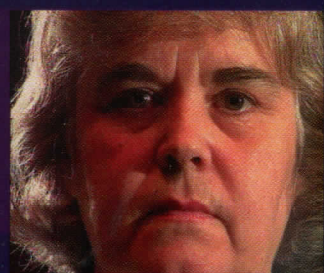

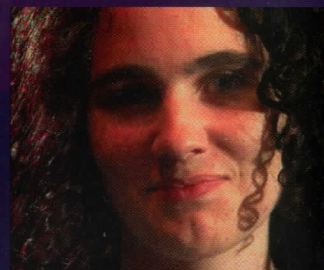

COMPETITION WINNERS

On the bands return from their record breaking Far East Tour in which they headlined the Honk Kong hand over concert, the prospect of beginning their British Tour came to the forefront. As usual the band always begin rehearsing just to make sure that everything on the opening night is a guaranteed success, only this tour was going to offer something a bit special to kick it off. So with the Playing Away Tour of Summer 1997, the band decided to give a small minority of their fans a once in a lifetime opportunity to see them whilst rehearsing for their forthcoming concerts. This was an experience that every Wet Wet Wet fan in the land would want to be involved in; a chance to see their favourite band, up close, with a concert being played especially for them and them only.

Following the initial idea, a nation-wide competition was launched offering one hundred lucky people the chance to see the Wet's at the exclusive gig to be held at the Manchester Nynex on the 20th August, between 7 and 9pm; these two hours would be precious time with the band that any devoted fan would never in their lives forget, a night that they would talk to other fans about for years to come.

To lay their hands on these tickets of gold dust several competitions were held throughout Britain. As always Splash gave the fan club members a priority chance of winning tickets with competitions being run through the phonenumber, website and newsletters. In conjunction, several newspapers and radio stations were also involved in selecting the fortuitous winners, these competitions were arranged with the bands record company. One such competition ran in the August 1997 edition of Top Of The Pops magazine, five pairs of tickets were offered to readers who could name the film soundtrack which featured the Wets' single Yesterday. Would you have known the answer ?

With the media hype and build up to the Playing Away Tour competition entrants were becoming more and more excited with the prospect of winning the 'Golden Tickets'. As the fans were becoming more and more anxious, unknowingly the band were equally as nervous. The guys knew that the majority of competition winners would not only be their biggest fans but also their biggest critics. It was to be a testing couple of hours for the band, they knew that the success of the Summer tour could be gauged by the reaction of the small audience to their new set list and stage surprises.

As the 20th August drew nearer, the names of the winners were released, all of whom understandably ecstatic at the thought of being privileged enough to have the band play exclusively to them, what was once a dream, a glimmering hope, now looked as if it was becoming reality. On discovering that they had won the magical tickets the winners now faced the tough ordeal of deciding who they would take as their partner.

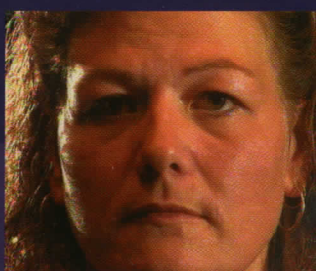

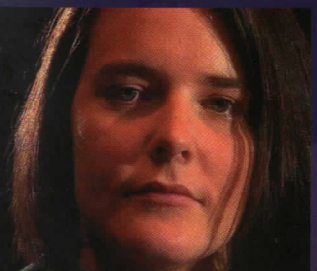

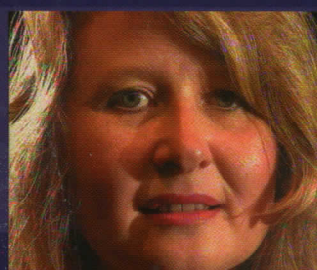

Eventually after weeks of anxious wishing and waiting, the thrilled winners, equipped with their VIP passes made their way to Manchester's Nynex Arena. The atmosphere among the fans was electric, everyone chatting nervously yet full of anticipation and enthusiasm, they were after all going to hear the band of their dreams play especially for them. The excited winners were then given yet another surprise, as if seeing the band was not enough of a prize in itself, the delighted fans were given the opportunity to appear on the gigantic on-stage screens which would be used during every date on the Playing Away Tour. The winners were called into the bar at the Arena half an hour before the gig began and a select few were hand picked to be photographed for the 'Jumbo Tron'. Their faces full of expectation and delight were caught in a split second of time, capturing a picture of emotion that only those present at the intimate concert would be able to fully understand and appreciate. Now the winners themselves had become 'famous' to a certain extent, as at every Wet Wet Wet concert in the weeks to come thousands and thousands of devoted fans would see the faces of these mysterious people screened during one of the all time favourites 'Goodnight Girl'. Leaving all those in the audience wondering who these people were and how they could have been lucky enough to be included in the Wet's stage show.

Then the moment arrived that the winners had been dreaming of all day Wet Wet Wet on stage and ready to put on a show only for them! The one-off gig began with the band launching into their first ever hit Wishing I Was Lucky, an appropriate song for the winners who had wished they'd be lucky enough to win the competition and now their wish had been granted ! Along with other songs from their debut album Popped In Souled Out, the band played a vast array of their other all time favourites, moving from Lip service to other hits such as their cover version of Jammin'. The stage show, as always, was equally as fabulous with a spectacular arrangement of lights, huge screens and glorious fireworks, which when they exploded were almost as loud as the screams and singing from the fans!!! There was definitely magic in the air and as the band played on, their music cast a spell over the crowd gathered before them, who were jumping, clapping and singing to the music, bringing the concert to a fantastic end.

The winners were left full of wonderful memories, able to boast to others that Wet Wet Wet - the band they love had put on a special show just for them and the faces of an even luckier few were projected up on the stage during each Playing Away performance to prove it !!! And the band-the band were overjoyed that a group of their discerning yet devoted fans had verified that the British Summer Tour of 1997 was going to be yet another of their hugely successful tours!!!

HONG KONG 1997

The band travelled over to Hong Kong in July during their Far East promo tour to perform in a pop extravaganza with other major artists such as Lisa Stansfield and Claire Johnson etc.

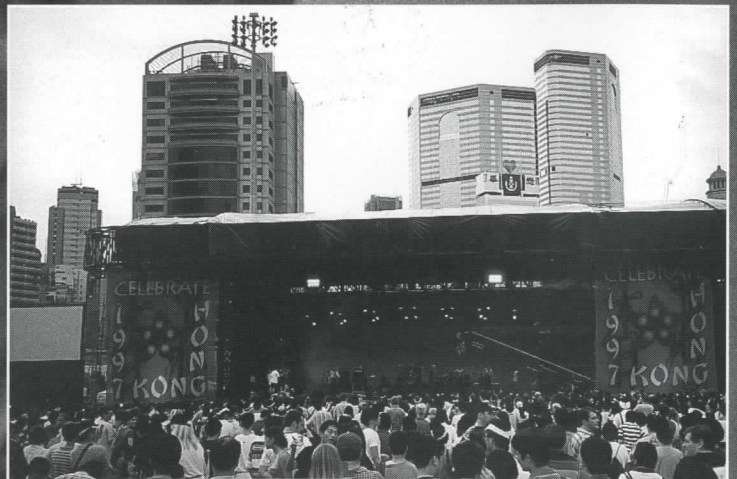

The concert was on the 5th of July to celebrate the reunification of China with the former British colony of Hong Kong.

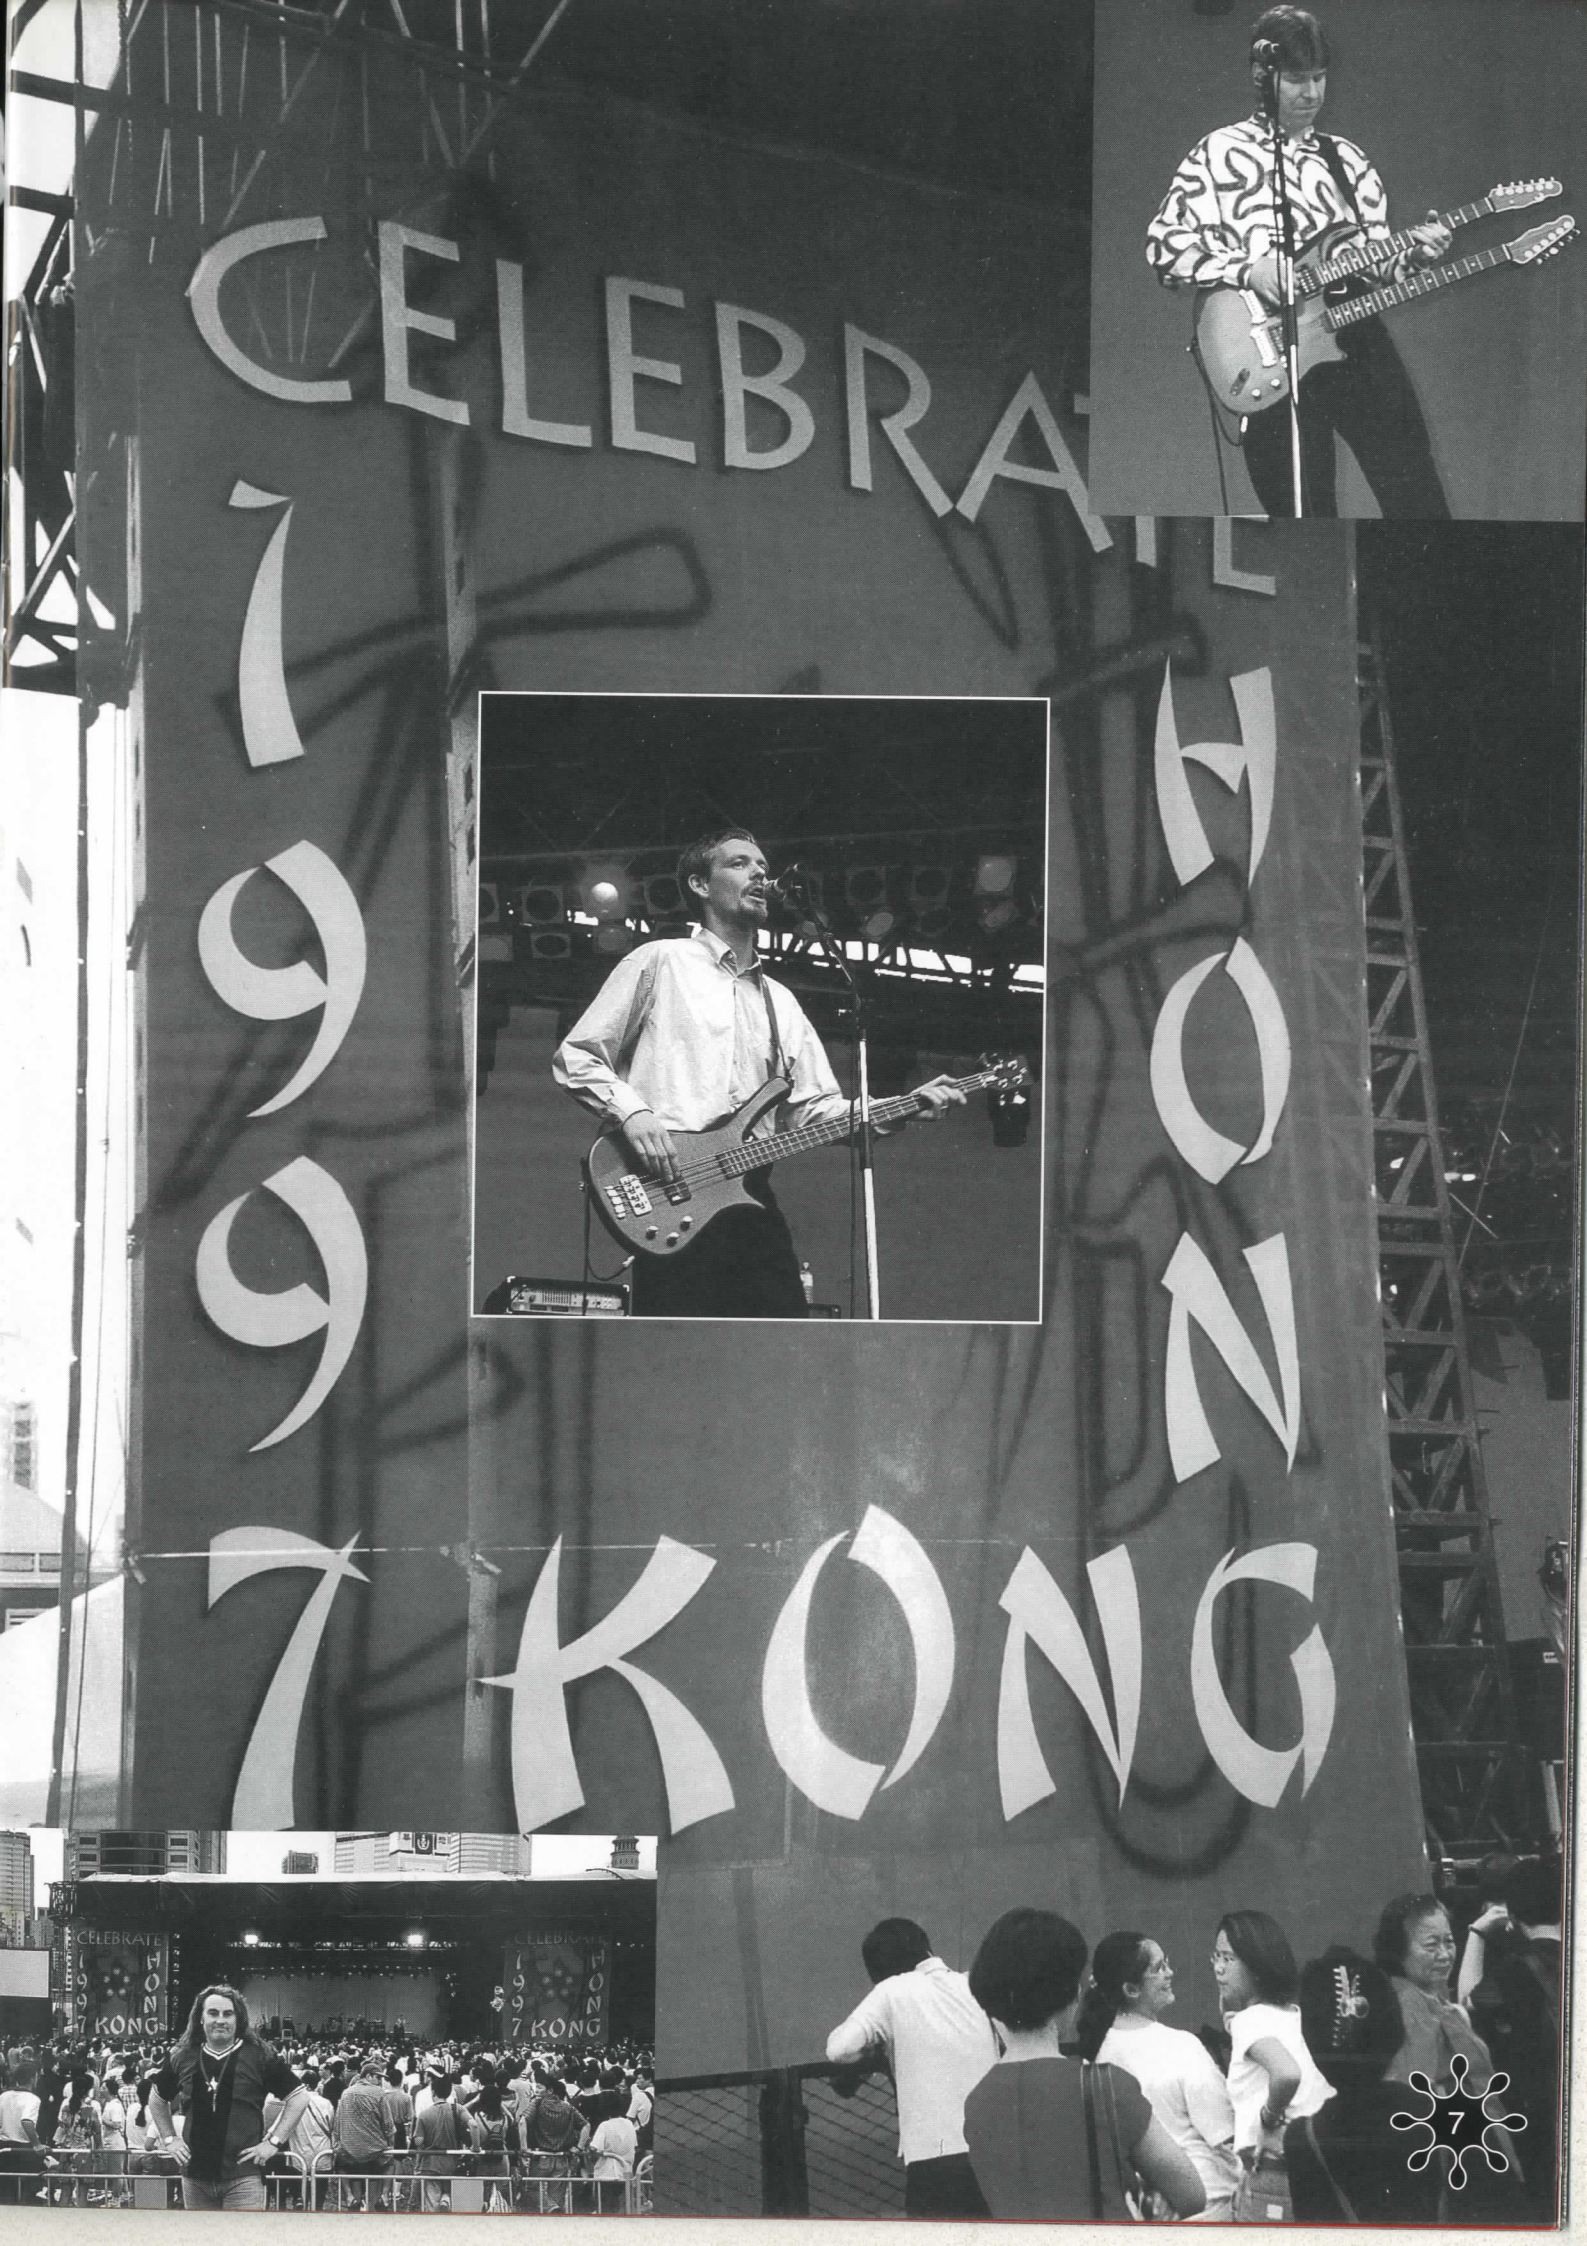

Unfortunately due to unusual weather conditions with torrential rain causing flooding, the concert had to be postponed from Saturday 5th to Sunday the 6th of July.

The following day the huge audience stood in humid conditions and soaring temperatures to see Wet Wet Wet. The crowd had no alternative but to spray water over themselves to keep relatively cool.

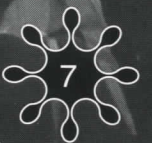

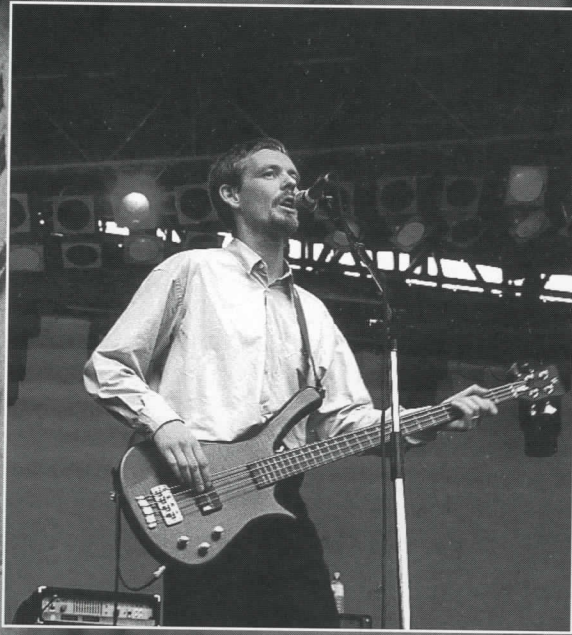

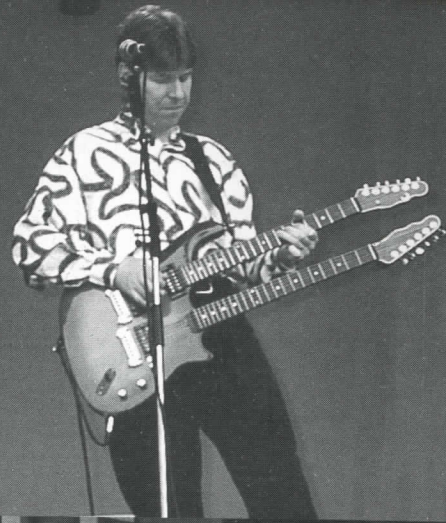

Despite these set-backs the concert was a great success and raised about £500,000 for various charities in Hong Kong.

The band had a great time and look forward to returning some time in the future.

Wet Wet Wet filming 'The Weekend Show' for London Weekend Television

WET WET WET PROMOTIONAL TOUR

SUMMER SUN & SAT 1

With only a few weeks to go before the 'Playing Away From Home' British Tour and literally a couple of weeks after the Far East Tour, many would think that the band would be taking a well deserved break giving them time to recharge their batteries for the forthcoming concerts - but not this band!!!

It was all Work Work Work for the guys who were off on a promotional trip taking them to Top Of The Pops, Capital Cafe for 'Live at the Capital Cafe' and lastly over to the continent to record a performance for the Germany television program 'Summer Sun & Sat 1' or as they say in Germany 'Sommer, Sonne, Sat 1'.

With 'Sat 1' being Germany's second biggest national private channel and with an estimated audience of 5 million this television performance was a great opportunity for Wet Wet Wet to reach their European fans. The show, screened on a Saturday evening with a popular German presenter, consisted of two other music acts beside Wet Wet Wet, although our guys stole the show with their live performance of the smash hit 'Strange'.

THE 'STRANGE' VIDEO - WHAT DID THE BAND THINK?

'The unfortunate thing about making the strange video was that it was a 'two day shoot', so we never actually got to meet the other people who took part in it but it was nice seeing the rest of the guys being put onto smaller bodies, sort of made me feel an equal size for once!'

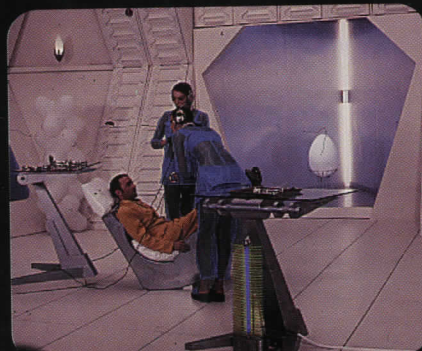

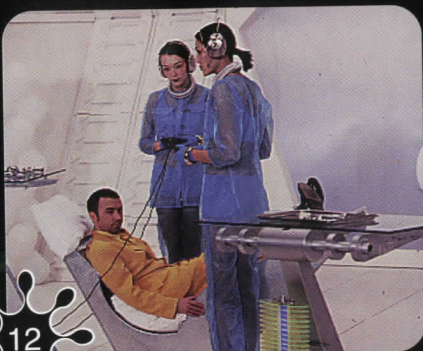

Neil Mitchell

'Strange was strange! It was so weird seeing ourselves with other bodies - spooky in fact! Of course the body builder was the real me'

Marti Pellow

'Like anyone I suppose I found it all very odd, but I quite liked being the baby, I saw the world from a different perspective'

Graeme Clark
